

A Mass for Missionary Children (1)

The Pontifical Mission Societies

Opening Procession of Priest Celebrant and Children.

Invite a child to read what is being brought to the sanctuary and why.

We bring a globe (or map of the world) to remember all the children of the world. We bring our candles in the mission colours: Green for the children of Africa, yellow for the children of Asia, white for the children of Europe, blue for the children of Oceania, and red for the children of the Americas. We also bring a Missio Scotland collection box (or some coins in a jar). We do without things we like, so that we can give to others. We bring the book of the Gospels (Lectionary) and today we will be hearing about how Jesus tells His disciples to tell everyone about Him and His teachings—to continue His mission.

Priest Celebrant

We are all called by God to make a difference, no matter how small. This is what being a missionary is about. October is mission month. Today is a special day to celebrate being a community and doing good things together. We are the community that continues Jesus' mission to proclaim the Good News to the whole world. Jesus sent His Holy Spirit to remain with us and to help us do His work and share His love. Each of us has a different role to play, but together we can perform it better. Together we are mission! Today we are gathered to celebrate, in a special way, how we are linked together and are called to love one another and to care for each other. We are called to care especially for those who live in poverty or fear.

In our prayers today we remember:

The children of Africa (light green candle)

The children of Asia (light yellow candle)

The children of Europe (light white candle)

The children of Oceania (light blue candle)

The children of the Americas (light red candle)

Collect Prayer

God our Father, you love us as a father loves his children. Help us to live and love like your Son, Jesus. We make this prayer through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God forever and ever. Amen.

First Reading (Acts 2:1-33)

When the day of Pentecost came, all the believers were gathered together in one place. Suddenly there was a noise from the sky which sounded like a strong wind blowing, and it filled the whole house where they were sitting. Then they saw what looked like tongues of fire which spread out and touched each person there. They were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to talk in other languages, as the Spirit enabled them to speak. There were Jews living in Jerusalem and other religious people who had come from every country in the world. When they heard the noise, a large crowd gathered. They were all excited, because all of them heard the believers talking in their own languages. In amazement and wonder they exclaimed: "These people who are talking like this are Galileans! How is it, then, that all of us hear them speaking in our own native languages?" Amazed and confused, they kept asking each other: "What does this mean?" But others made fun of the believers, saying: "These people are drunk!" Then Peter stood up with the other 11 apostles and in a loud voice began to speak to the crowd: "Listen to me and let me tell you what this means. Jesus of Nazareth was a man whose divine authority was clearly proven to you by all the miracles and wonders which God performed through Him. You yourselves know this, for it happened here among you. God has raised this very Jesus from death, and we are all witnesses to this fact. He has been raised to the right side of God, His Father, and we have received the Holy Spirit from Him, as He promised.

What you now see and hear is His gift that He has poured out on us."

Gospel Reading (Matthew 28:16-20)

The 11 disciples went to the hill in Galilee where Jesus had told them to go. When they saw Him, they worshipped Him, even though some of them doubted. Jesus drew near and said to them: "I have been given all authority in Heaven and on earth. Go, then, to all peoples everywhere and make them my disciples: Baptise them in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit and teach them to obey everything I have commanded you. And I will be with you always, to the end of time."
